Traditional Icelandic Food

A wooden tray filled with traditional Icelandic food items. In the foreground, there are two small glass bowls: one containing white butter and another containing yellow butter. Behind them are several types of bread, including a large round loaf, a smaller round loaf, and a rectangular loaf. There are also some pieces of cheese and a small bowl of yellow cubes, possibly butter or cheese. The background shows a large, dark, textured object, possibly a piece of meat or a large loaf of bread.
